Responsibilities Matrix

Getting the most out of DevResults requires keeping information current and complete. We recommend establishing clear internal guidelines for who should be responsible for updating and managing various parts of DevResults.

Download the Responsibilities Matrix to think through the tasks associated with different parts of your activity cycle, what the corresponding tasks in DevResults should be, and who should execute them.

Didn't answer your question? Please email us at help@devresults.com .

Related Articles