

Inter-Organization Collaboration

Last Modified on 05/22/2018 1:54 pm EDT

Occasionally, new and prospective DevRevResults users ask to be put in contact with experienced DevResults users for insight into the software or internal processes that work for them. We think these collaborations are an excellent idea. Our team has developed a DevResults User Forum on Slack to facilitate these exchanges. If you'd like to participate as a resource or you're looking for information from others, please email us at help@devresults.com for an invite. Check out the Peer-to-Peer channel to meet other users and discuss challenges and solutions in M&E.

For privacy and legal reasons , DevResults cannot share contact information of our clients, but we're eager to hear other ideas for bringing the community together.

Didn't answer your question? Please email us at help@devresults.com .

Related Articles
